HONOURING HIS ROOTS

Dr Chua Koon Ting

Clinical Director, Polygems (PG) Dental Care
Diploma in Biomedical Science (Merit)
Bachelor of Dental Surgery (BDS)

As the first polytechnic student in Singapore accepted into the Faculty of Dentistry, National University of Singapore (NUS), Dr Chua Koon Ting, 31, is now the proud owner of Polygems Dental Care. In this exclusive interview, he shared with us his uneasy teenage years, trials and tribulations. Prepare yourself for a roller-coaster ride as you embark on his life journey!

Poignant Memories

It is often said that the innocent eyes of kids perceive the world differently from adults. From young, Koon Ting often saw his father 'playing' with false teeth. This would have been interpreted ordinarily by grown-ups to be washing, putting in or taking out partial dentures. This recollection, accentuated by the demise of his father when he was taking PSLE, inspired him to pursue dentistry.

“ Being a dental surgeon is fulfilling as it allows me to do what I am inspired to.”

The Comeback Kid

Affected by his father's passing on, Koon Ting landed up in Normal Academic Stream. His carefree days came to an abrupt end as he had to take on part-time jobs to make ends meet. The list went on – security guard, fast food counter attendant, telemarketer, waiter, promoter, administrative officer.

"In my secondary school days, I worked after school till midnight, before heading home. Some days, I closed my eyes for a few moments during class, and was ticked off by teachers. Fortunately, teachers who knew about my financial struggles defended me," he chuckled.

Amid this hectic schedule, Koon Ting still made time to participate in social community work, clinching

"From young, I learnt the relationship between giving and gaining. One has to give first before getting what you want in life."

National Youth Achievement Awards (NYAA). He was the top N and O level student within his cohort. The turning point arrived when he graduated as a top SP student with a Diploma with Merit in Biomedical Science. Subsequently, he received the Lee Kuan Yew Scholarship and Singapore Polytechnic Alumni Scholarship. The rest, as we know, is history.

Valuable Lessons

Working at an early age taught him important lessons, which prepared him for his entrepreneurial journey. This runs against the grain of instant gratification, which Koon Ting cautioned against.

"I also learnt to be humble and open-minded, especially when others hold different views from us," he added.

POLYGEMS DENTAL CARE

(YISHUN)

Being His Own Boss

After being accredited as a fully registered dental surgeon in 2013, Koon Ting obtained his vast experience from both government and private dental clinics before starting his two clinics. During his stint at a private clinic, many patients complimented his skill and character. They encouraged him to start his own practice.

One loyal patient, Mdm Ong Bee Tin, felt that his skills were a notch higher than normal dental practitioners. In fact, she had visited four dental surgeons before taking a leap of faith with Koon Ting. "At first, I thought he is so young. However, as he took the initiative to explain my situation, give a comprehensive diagnosis and propose a feasible solution, I was impressed. He also has excellent follow-up service," she commented.

Recognitions such as these gradually became a voice that Koon Ting simply could not ignore. With his entrepreneurial spirit ignited, 'Polygems' is born. He elaborated, "The word 'poly' pays tribute to my alma mater, and is also indicative of the range of patients I want to see. Everyone should have access to dental treatment, regardless of whether he or she is rich or poor."

Koon Ting believes that every poly student is a gem that has potential yet to be unleashed. "The modular system offered by SP gives students the flexibility to develop interests outside the school curriculum," he concluded. This can be a key factor as Koon Ting can manage his time effectively and allow him to achieve greater heights.

Despite their hectic schedules, two outstanding Singapore Polytechnic (SP) alumni, hip hop artist ShiGGa Shay and visual effects artist Vicki Lau shared their less trodden career paths during 'The Inspiring Alumni Series' pro-bono talks held on 22 April 2017. Read on to discover real-life lessons on what it takes to chase your dreams and aspirations. Their advice can save you from making costly mistakes in your own endeavours!

FULL SPEECH

FULL SPEECH OF
SHIGGA SHAY

Pursuing His Goals at All Odds

Pek Jin Shen, better known by his stage name ShiGGa Shay, 24, cannot envision a life doing anything else other than music. Undaunted by naysayers who painted a drab prospect of the local music scene, he learnt everything from scratch, rotating between roles of producer, performer and director.

ShiGGa Shay's talent and perseverance culminated in him representing Singapore to perform at the White House Afterparty for the State Dinner in August 2016. While citing this as a milestone, he reminded himself to stay grounded. "Nothing can really be achieved without proper teamwork. However cliché it seems, there is no 'I' in the team," he chuckled.

ShiGGa was grateful to his two mentors, Mr Loh Aik Khoo, Head of SAF Music and Drama Company, and Ms Gillian Tan, founder of Clicknetwork.tv. Both gave him ample opportunities to lay a firm foundation in making, editing, directing and performing in music videos.

Perhaps the most important lesson he learnt from his mentors is to have the courage to make mistakes, bearing in mind not to repeat them. His nugget of wisdom for readers? "You have to find your purpose to doing what you do. This will carry you through your darkest moments of self-doubt and roadblocks. Don't be afraid to ask for help. Learn from everyone around you. Ensure you are progressing towards your goals every day. Never give up until your dream comes true!"

“ My passion has always been to share my stories with the world through music, to create value in the process. I kept pushing myself, not knowing where this will lead me ”

From SP to Hollywood

"It's all about you and what you want," Vicki Lau shared. Subscribing to this maxim has empowered her to pull through many adversities in life, amid her strings of successes. Academic wise, after graduating from Singapore Polytechnic in 2011 as an Institutional Medallist, she furthered her studies at the Savannah College of Art and Design. She emerged as one of the top graduates in 2014, clinching the Summa Cum Laude Bachelor's in Visual Effects.

Her visual effects magic can be found in top movies and TV series across a wide spectrum of genres. Some of the great hits that she has worked on include Guardians of the Galaxy, The Walking Dead, Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles and Independence Day:

Resurgence. Other notable achievements include attending the Emmy Awards, TED Talk which she spoke about Virtual Reality, as well as being granted a O-1B visa by the US Government.

A loner in her younger days, Vicki stumbled upon the joy of video editing and recording at age 14.

"I felt like the whole world was in my hands. Through videos, I was able to tell stories I could not fully explain in words."

Vicki's life blossomed during her SP years, when she enrolled in the Diploma of Digital Media & Infocomm Technology. She also became more confident as lecturers assigned her leadership roles in SP Videography Club. "Going to the United States is a humbling experience. Apart from working with many talented people, it opened my eyes to what is work-life balance," she smiled.

Vicki cautioned against using awards and accolades as the only yardsticks to measure your own success. She advised, "Ultimately the greatest award in life is to be able to do what you want, stay true to your own goals, and find your own path to success."

IN THE MARITIME INDUSTRY

Continuing Education and Training

As a premier global hub port, Singapore is well-connected to over 600 ports in over 120 countries. A key driver of the Singapore economy, the maritime industry employs more than 170,000 people and contributed some seven per cent to Singapore's Gross Domestic Product in 2016 (Source: The Maritime and Port Authority of Singapore).

Tailored to give a head-start in maritime careers, the Specialist Diploma in Port Management and Operations is a SkillsFuture Earn and Learn Programme (ELP) which deepens the skillsets of those in the container terminal and multi-purpose port operations.

Recent top Singapore Polytechnic (SP) graduate, Priscilla Evangeline Choo, 22, graduated with a GPA of 4.0. At first, navigation through the myriad world of shipping terminology was a challenge. Fortunately, her 'course' became smoother with the help of two mentors, Captain Chatur Wahyu, her SP lecturer and Mr Philip, her ex-boss during an internship at Dakshin Martime Services Pte Ltd.

"They inspired me in different ways. Captain Chatur gave me a rigorous foundation in maritime law and insurance, while Mr Philip is the person who encouraged me to read course books issued by the Institute of Chartered Shipbrokers. Through reading, I familiarised myself with the technical terms and my knowledge of the maritime industry widened as well," she reminisced.

With her heart entrenched in the maritime industry, Priscilla decided to pursue the ELP programme. Though that meant waking up early at 5am to prepare and read her study notes, she was unfazed. In fact, she enjoyed going to work every day. "Learning came alive when I went on board ships to experience what were taught in class," she explained.

On-the-job training among the different aspects of port operations at Jurong Port, such as finance, workplace safety and container yard planning further broadened her horizons. Her senior colleagues shared with her their invaluable experiences. "For instance, they know the exact origin of their cargo, and how it is being discharged. Such deep learning is simply not attainable just by reading textbooks," she said.

When asked about her insights from this experience, Priscilla commented, "We should enjoy the learning process, rather than let results define us. I always challenge myself to be more than who others or I think I am."

Singapore Polytechnic signs MOU to provide enhanced internship opportunities for students in the Social Service Sector

SP signed a MOU with six social and community service agencies to offer structured internships for students from the Diploma in Applied Drama and Psychology (DADP). It aims to meet the growing demand for manpower in a sector that serves various vulnerable communities. Students would be able to apply their drama knowledge and skillsets to help develop intervention programmes for the agencies and evaluate its impact on the communities.

Singtel partners polytechnics to help SMEs

Singtel tied up with Singapore Polytechnic to provide crucial training in the digital space for small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) operating in the retail and food and beverage (F&B) sectors.

The team would develop a full suite of solutions to help enhance the local F&B operators' digital and marketing capabilities. This collaboration will not only enable the SMEs to stay competitive, but also provide a learning platform for SP students to apply their skillsets.

SP and e2i collaborate to train students and PMETs

Singapore Polytechnic (SP) and e2i has signed a Memorandum of Understanding to enhance and boost the competencies and employability of graduates and PMETs. The three-year partnership will allow union members to attain new industry-relevant skills under the Union Training Assistance Programme (UTAP). SP's Professional and Adult Continuing Education (PACE) Academy will offer an additional 102 skills-based modular courses for union members; making up a total of 230 courses offered by PACE Academy under UTAP.

Mr Soh Wai Wah, Principal and Chief Executive Officer of SP said, "Through this meaningful partnership with NTUC, Singapore Polytechnic will be able to help the workforce deepen its skills and enhance employability."

Students' kit can detect Zika and Dengue Faster

Three Singapore Polytechnic (SP) students from Diploma in Biomedical Science devised a kit that detects and distinguishes between the Zika and Dengue virus. The kit, developed in collaboration with Tan Tock Seng Hospital and the National Environment Agency, won the Polytechnic Student Research Programme Award.

Fast-track for SP accountancy students

With the tripartite memorandum of understanding (MOU) signed by Singapore Polytechnic (SP), the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales (ICAEW) and Deloitte Singapore, SP students now have the option of qualifying as a chartered accountant locally and in the United Kingdom through an accelerated route that did not require a degree. The MOU was the first of its kind for ICAEW. The part-time Professional Chartered Accountancy course offered by SP would better prepare and fast-track students to complete the ICAEW Associate Chartered Accountant examination.

DLA Alumni Industry Nite 2017

◀ Gallery Walk

◀ Talk by SILA President, Mr Ronnie Tan

Diploma in Landscape Architecture (DLA) alumni returned to Singapore Polytechnic on 24 March for the DLA Alumni Industry Nite 2017. Many alumni had looked forward to the event as they would be able to receive updated information about membership and accreditation from Singapore Institute of Landscape Architecture (SILA) and take the opportunity to gather with their peers. Alumni from various organisations such as landscape consultancy firms, contractor firms and government agencies attended the event. "It is a good session for us to meet alumni who are working in other companies and agencies. I am also glad to learn more about the future of Landscape Architecture and the impact that our careers can make on the society," said Lin Xu, who graduated in Year 2016.

DMLS Reunion

Singapore Polytechnic Diploma in Materials Science (DMLS) held its first reunion on 4 March 2017 after four batches of its students have graduated. The gathering was a great opportunity for the alumni and lecturers to reconnect with each other and an apt platform for new friendships to be forged. With the reunion being well-received by the attendees, there will definitely be more of such get-togethers to be organised.

Community Service with Alumni

Two groups of Singapore Polytechnic (SP) alumni recently participated in overseas community service trips to China and Vietnam in March and April 2017 respectively. Both trips ended on a positive note as volunteers and beneficiaries had a wonderful time together.

Trip to Lijiang

11 SP alumni and two SP staff headed to Lijiang, China where they provided support to 150 Liang Mei Primary School students and two less-privileged families. At Liang Mei Primary School, English lessons were carried out through games, music, dance and craft activities. Volunteers also took the opportunity to build a sports field next to the school for the children. A visit to two less-privileged families was incorporated where volunteers brought basic necessities and foodstuffs to children with medical conditions and engaged their families with craftwork. An Easter carnival was also organised by the volunteers to bring joy to the children. Not only did the children have a fun time, the volunteers enjoyed themselves too.

▲ Children are guided to learn directions from the colourful road maps

▲ Volunteers helped with cement work to build a wall at the sports field

Trip to Vietnam

36 SP alumni and 1 SP staff travelled to Vietnam to engage the Linh Phung Primary School students in Ben Tre. The team of volunteers split into two groups to help either in infrastructure or to teach English language to the students. The infrastructure team was efficient and finished painting the fences by the third day. The English language team introduced the students to names of animals, fruits and vegetables as well as English songs. Besides learning English, the volunteers engaged the students in team-building activities. On the last day in school, a carnival was held for close to 200 students, parents and teachers whom had a joyous time. As volunteers also included house visits in their community service programme, they split into four groups to visit the families and provided them with household and food items before having a scrumptious lunch together.

Training For Real-Life Emergencies

More than 15 Singapore Polytechnic (SP) alumni from various Alumni Interest Groups (AIGs) attended the Citizen First Responder Programme conducted by Singapore Red Cross Academy on 25 March 2017. It was a refresher course for some, while a new experience at learning life-saving techniques for others. As many alumni from AIGs either organise or attend events on a regular basis, they readily signed up for the workshop, which equipped them with skillsets that would prove beneficial in case of real-life emergencies during events.

Besides equipping the alumni with theoretical knowledge, the instructors gave ample opportunities for them to hone their bandaging and cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) skills. The participants completed the workshop, feeling more confident to handle common time-critical medical emergencies.

Professional Image and Etiquette Workshop

There were around 30 Singapore Polytechnic (SP) alumni who attended the professional image and etiquette workshop conducted by certified consultant, Ms Sally Tang, on 13 May 2017. It was an interactive one-day workshop where alumni were equipped with practical tips on enhancing their image and etiquette skills for the workplace and for any social or business settings.

Ms Sally started by sharing on the importance of 'first impression' and advised the participants on the professional grooming dos and don'ts. She then led the participants to identify their facial shapes and the colour combinations that are best suited for them. Besides advising on image, she provided information on email, conversational and dining etiquette. Many demonstrations were conducted to enhance the learning experience.

SP alumni were glad that they attended the workshop and requested to be informed of upcoming developmental workshops to help them improve personally and professionally.
